SEASON OF CHANGE (from the Season of Change album)

Try to remember just where you've been
Yesterday has come and gone
A memory of where you were back then
When all the things you did were wrong

There's no denying with You in my life now
I'm not gonna run any more

A season of change coming over me
A reason to change what's inside of me
A season of change coming over me
There's a season of change

Try to remember the things you did
The same old dance the same old song
Empty feelings that you can't forget
Try to forget and just move on

It's time to quit looking over my shoulder
To just leave the past far behind

2 Corinthians 5:17
